

Contributors

John CLARK is Professor Emeritus in Art History at the University of Sydney where he taught for twenty-two years. He wrote Modern Asian Art in 1995, which was published in 1998 by Craftsman House, Sydney, and University of Hawai'i Press. His Asian Modernities: Chinese and Thai Art Compared, 1980-1999 (Sydney, Power Publications, 2010) won the Best Art Book Prize of the Art Association of Australia and New Zealand in 2011 while his Modernities of Chinese Art and Modernities of Japanese Art were published by Brill in 2010 and 2013 respectively. His two-volume The Asian Modern, which examines twenty-five Asian artists across five generations from the 1850s-1990s, was published by the National Gallery Singapore in March 2021. Also in press for 2021 from National University of Singapore Press is Contemporary Asian Art at Biennials, his studies from 2000-2005. Contact: john.clark@sydney.edu.au

Paul T. COHEN is Associate Professor and honorary Senior Research Fellow in the Department of Anthropology, Macquarie University, Sydney. He received his doctorate at the University of London in 1982 based on his earlier research in Chiang Mai province, northern Thailand. Since the mid-1990s he has done periodic research in northern Laos (Muang Sing). His publications on these regions are wide-ranging, including a number of chapters and articles on Lanna Buddhism. Contact: paul.cohen@mq.edu.au

Graham H. DALRYMPLE is originally from Scotland, but has lived in Songkhla since 2013. He is currently completing his master's thesis at Universiti Kebangsaan Malaysia's Institute of Ethnic Studies, and is affiliated with the Muslim Studies Centre at Chulalongkorn University's Institute of Asian Studies. Contact: ghdalrymple@gmail.com

DIREK Injan is currently head of the Palm-leaf Manuscript Culture Studies project at the Office of Arts and Culture, Chiang Mai Rajabhat University (CMRU), Chiang Mai. In 2017, he earned his PhD degree at CMRU in the field of Mekong and Salween River Regional Studies with a thesis entitled "The Concept and Working Process for Re-creation the Tripitaka in Lanna Kingdom and Shan State". At CMRU, he is responsible for the preservation and studying of manuscript cultures in Northern Thailand and Shan State (Myanmar). Since September 2020, he has been head of a digitization project of Shan manuscripts kept at Wat Papao, Chiang Mai, supported by DREAMSEA. Contact: direkcmru@gmail.com

Volker GRABOWSKY has been Professor of Thai and Lao Studies at the Asia-Africa-Institute, University of Hamburg, since 2009. From 1996 to 1999, he worked for the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) at the Department of Lao Language and Literature, National University of Laos. From 1999 to 2009, he was Professor of Southeast Asian History at the Institute of Ethnology, Westfälische Wilhelms-University of Münster. He is the author of several books on the history and culture of Tai ethnic groups. Together with Hans Georg Berger (and with the collaboration of Dr. Khamvone Boulyaphonh and Dr. Bounleuth Sengsoulin) he edited the volume, The Lao Sangha and Modernity: Research at the Buddhist Archives of Luang Prabang 2005–2015 (Anantha Publishing, 2015). Contact: Volker.Grabowsky@uni-hamburg.de

Agnieszka HELMAN-WAŻNY is a bibliologist and material scientist at the University of Hamburg and the University of Warsaw. Her publications include monographs and articles on the history of the regional production and usage of paper and books in Asia, including The Archaeology of Tibetan Books (Brill, 2014) and The Mustang Archives: Analysis of handwritten documents via the study of papermaking traditions in Nepal (Brepols forthcoming, co-authored with Charles Ramble). Using interdisciplinary methods in collaboration with scholars, private collectors, museum curators and artisans, as well as personal experience in “experimental manuscriptology”, Dr. Helman-Ważny’s work is concerned with establishing paper typologies, and applying modern technologies in the identification and dating of premodern non-Western manuscripts, including the Dunhuang manuscripts. Contact: agnieszka.helman-wazny@uni-hamburg.de

ITHI Sophonpanich received a BA in Philosophy, Politics and Economics (PPE) from the University of Oxford, a MPhil from the Institute of Development Studies, University of Sussex, and a MA in History from the University of Hawai’i at Manoa in 2011 with his thesis on “The Discourse of Hierarchy: A Study of British Writing on Siam, c. 1820–1918.” Prior to his passing in 2016, he was a PhD candidate and Graduate Teaching Assistant at the Department of History, George Washington University, with a focus on Fascism and the role of the British Empire in Southeast Asia. Contact: journal@thesiamsociety.org

Christopher M. JOLL has lived and worked in Thailand for twenty years. He is a research fellow at Chulalongkorn University’s Muslim Studies Centre, and a research associate at Victoria University of Wellington’s Religious Studies Program. He is the author of Muslim Merit-making in Thailand’s Far-South (Springer 2011). Since 2020, he has relocated to New Zealand. Contact: cmjoll@gmail.com

KHAMVONE Boulyaphonh is director of the Buddhist Archives of Luang Prabang and a co-ordinator for the Buddhist Academy of the Sangha of Luang Prabang province. In 2016, he earned his PhD at the University of Hamburg in the field of Thai and Lao Studies with a thesis entitled “The Life, Work and Social Roles of the Most Venerable Sathu Nyai Khamchan Virachitta Maha Thela (1920–2007)”. From 2016 to 2018, he carried out digitization projects at the University of Hamburg. Since September 2018, he has been head of three major digitization projects supported by DREAMSEA. Together with Prof. Dr. Volker Grabowsky, he edited two volumes of the catalogues of manuscripts, “A Lost Monastery Library Rediscovered: A Catalogue of Lao Manuscripts kept in the abbot’s abode (kuti) of Vat Si Bun Hüang, Luang Prabang” (Hamburger Südostasienstudien, Vol. 15) and “Written Treasures from Northern Laos: A Catalogue of Manuscripts from

Vat Xiang Thong, Luang Prabang” (Hamburger Südostasienstudien, Vol. 16). Contact: khamvone.boulyaphonh@gmail.com

Eng Jin Ooi is a PhD candidate in Buddhist Textual Studies at the Faculty of Social Sciences and Humanities, Mahidol University, Bangkok. His research focuses on the transmission of the Milindapañha (Questions of King Milinda), with a comparative analysis of the Siamese recensions. Under the guidance of Peter Skilling and Giuliano Giustarini, his work explores the textual traditions of various Milindapañha recensions that circulated in Siam from the late Ayutthaya period. He holds a MA in Buddhist Studies from the University of Kelaniya, Sri Lanka. Contact: ej_ooi@yahoo.com

PARITTA Chalernpow Koanantakool is a retired anthropologist. She was a lecturer in the Sociology and Anthropology Faculty of Thammasat University, and director of the Sirindhorn Anthropology Centre. She published books and articles on Thai dance, aspects of the body in Thai culture, and local museums. Contact: paritta99@gmail.com

PHAPTAWAN Suwannakudt is a Thai-Australian artist, who works in interdisciplinary forms that include painting, sculpture and installation, informed by Buddhism, women’s issues and cross-cultural dialogue. Phaptawan trained as a mural painter with her late father, Phaiboon Suwannakudt, and led a team of painters working in Buddhist temples across Thailand during the 1980s-1990s. She was also involved in the women artists’ group exhibition, Tradisexion, in 1995 and was a curator in the international art exchange, Womanifesto. She relocated to Australia in 1996 and completed her Master of Visual Arts at Sydney College of the Arts, The University of Sydney. She has exhibited extensively in Australia, Thailand and internationally, including Traces of Words: Art and Calligraphy from Asia, Museum of Anthropology, UBC, Vancouver, Canada (2017) Retold-Untold Stories, Chiang Mai (2014) and Sydney (2016), Thresholds: Contemporary Thai Art, New York (2013) and the 18th Biennale of Sydney: All Our Relations (2012). She was selected to participate in the inaugural Bangkok Art Biennale, Thailand (2018). Most recently, her work was included in Asia TOPA 2020, Art Centre Melbourne, and The National 2021 at the Art Gallery of New South Wales. Her works are held in public collections, including the Art Bank Sydney, the National Art Gallery of Thailand, the Art Gallery of New South Wales and the National Gallery Singapore. Contact: phaptawan@gmail.com

POTPRECHA Cholvijarn holds a PhD in Buddhist Studies from University of Bristol, England. He is currently a special lecturer at the Thai Studies Centre, Faculty of Arts, Chulalongkorn University. Contact: potprecha@gmail.com

Nicolas REVIRE is Assistant Professor at Thammasat University, Faculty of Liberal Arts, Bangkok, and holds a doctoral degree from the Université Paris 3–Sorbonne nouvelle in France. He specializes in the Buddhist art and archaeology of South and Southeast Asia, with a research focus on premodern Thailand, Myanmar, and Cambodia. He is general editor of a collective volume titled Before Siam: Essays in Art and Archaeology, co-published by the Siam Society (Bangkok, 2014), and is currently preparing a Felicitation volume for Prof. Piriya Krairiksh to appear in 2022. Contact: nicolas@tu.ac.th

Tony WATERS is Professor of Sociology, and Director of the Institute for Religion, Culture, and Peace at Payap University, Chiang Mai. Author of eight books and assorted academic articles, he is an occasional contributor to The Irrawaddy (Yangon). He is currently working on translations of the Thai writer ‘Rong Wongsawan, and on issues involving social change in Southeast Asia. He was a Peace Corps Volunteer at the Malaria Zone Office in Phrae, 1980-1982. Contact: watersanthony777@gmail.com

Karl E. WEBER has an MA and PhD from Ruperto-Carola University, Heidelberg. He is Professor emeritus of the Asian Institute of Technology, Pathum Thani, and is now an independent researcher and author based in Bangkok. Contact: banbueng@loxinfo.co.th